The UML Class Diagrams are created automatically from the data collected from the source code.

As in all graphs, graphical querying provides the ability to expand and trim the graph to see specific classes.

Associations (member-level relationships) can be enabled on a type by type basis.